Livestock market outlook with Simon Quilty

You are invited to attend a FREE workshop with red meat and livestock market analyst, Simon Quilty.

Simon has over 30 years working in the meat and livestock sector and has a very active meat and livestock consulting business working closely with medium size to large meat processors, live cattle exporters, Australian feedlotter, backgrounders and Australian farmers and importers in China, Japan and the US.

Simon is a highly regarded independent meat and livestock analyst in high demand featuring as a speaker at many international meetings and conferences.

Please join us to hear Simon's assessment of global meat trends and what the likely future is for meat and livestock prices. Simon will give a detailed analysis of supply and demand trends across key global markets and his analysis of where our markets are heading.

If you're a sheep or cattle producer don't miss out on these highly interactive workshops that will provide you with the opportunity to have your livestock market questions answered by an expert.
